

SUBMISSION FORM Games for Health Europe Conference 2017

Games for Health Europe seeks quality content to present and publish.

There are 2 ways to submit:

Share your ideas & results – aimed primary at practitioners and developers, but also for academics eager to share their work with cross-disciplinary audiences and general public.

Share your research – aimed primary at researchers aiming to discuss and present their (ongoing) work, but also suitable for anyone who wish to go deeper.

The conference features various tracks of simultaneous presentations and a daily plenary opening and closing session by renowned keynote speakers. More than 60 professionals, all representatives from one of the stakeholders, will give short powerful presentations on various topics.

The conference tracks will explore a wide range of research, application, development and implementation. All based on the contribution that games and simulations are making towards possible improvements in the field of health and health care.
