

Important Note:

- There are no official lectures and presentations as in a congress.
- At each workstation there is a representative of the company that explains how to use the implants. Besides the company representatives there are some surgeons that will demonstrate the correct procedure.
- After this demonstration the participating surgeons can perform the procedure themselves on the cadavers.
- This kind of workshops is typically organised by one company in their cadaver lab.
- The goals of the organisers is to give to the participants the chance to compare different implants from different manufacturers.
