TePe Share Exclusive Live Webinar

Gingivitis and periodontitis start in the oh-so-important spaces between the teeth. Already in 1965, Löe et al. concluded that plaque control is the key to preventing these diseases. In this webinar we will present TePe's range of interdental cleaning products and discuss which product you should recommend to each patient and why. We will start the webinar by taking you on a digital tour around our production site, to make you feel like you are with us at the headquarters right here in Malmö, Sweden.
